

English Second Language

The University of New Brunswick offers English second language programs on both its Fredericton and Saint John campuses.

Fredericton campus

The English Language Programme (ELP) at UNB Fredericton has been serving the needs of students, business professionals and immigrants since 1952.

ELP at UNB Fredericton attracts students from more than 70 countries around the world. With a wide variety of students of varying ages and cultural backgrounds, ELP provides an exciting and multi-national learning environment.

ELP offers students a rapid and intensive learning environment that is designed to help students competently and comfortably use the English language.

Saint John campus

UNB Saint John's Saint John College offers a variety of English second language programs to students from around the world.

Whether for academic success at university, competency in the workplace or for personal interest, Saint John College's programs are designed to accommodate the specific language learning needs of its students.

Saint John College offers small class sizes with instruction delivered by exceptional, highly qualified language facilitators and UNB professors.
