Dare to be wise

With more than 70 degree and certificate programs, some of the best professors in Canada, internships, study abroad opportunities and much more, the University of New Brunswick is the logical choice for those who dare to be wise.

With campuses in Fredericton and Saint John, UNB is focused on teaching excellence, world-class research and helping students to achieve their academic goals.

At UNB you are more than just a number

Ranked number one of the top five comprehensive universities in Canada in the category of faculty-student ratio by Maclean's magazine, our small class sizes and low student-to-professor ratio mean professors get to know their students.

Faculty members also get students involved in ground-breaking research to introduce new ideas, new ways of thinking and to take advantage of all the university has to offer.
